Cruise, Explore & Dive The Palau Islands

PALAU-MICRONESIA

Tour Leader - Mike

Palau is world-renowned for its marine biodiversity and an abundance of large pelagic animals. The area offers avid wreck divers one of Micronesia's most extensive collections of WWII shipwrecks. From current swept plateaus to sheltered coral gardens, you will find an incredible range of diving for every level of interest and skill. The majority of diving is drift diving along the walls, plateaus and coral gardens of the outer reef, with the dive boat following along from the surface to meet you upon ascent.

Before and during WWII, Palau became a significant tactical advantage to the Japanese war effort. Subsequently, the American Navy launched operation 'DESECRATE I' on March 31, 1944, resulting in more than 60 ships being sunk. The wrecks rest at depths ranging from 20m to 40m.

Experience the sites that make Palau one of the top dive destinations in the world: the sharks of Blue Corner, the manta rays of Devilfish City and German Channel, and the coral reefs and stunning drop-offs teeming with marine life. This 10 night live-board adventure provides a mix of wreck diving, drift diving and night dives. Departing from Koror, the S/Y Palau Siren will dive the wrecks around Koror harbour before cruising to Ulong Channel and the Rock Islands and Ngerchu - for some speedy drift dives and Peleliu Island. Many of the channels have strong currents and reef hooks are an essential piece of diving equipment, however diving here is suitable for all levels of experience.
