Dive Charles Darwin's Enchanted Islands

GALAPAGOS ISLANDS

Special Group Departure

The “Enchanted Islands” of the Galápagos are found in the Pacific Ocean, 926 kilometres west of Ecuador. The Galápagos archipelago is composed of 13 main islands, 7 smaller islands, and islets. The islands and their surrounding waters form an Ecuadorian province.

There are many wonders to discover in the Galápagos both above and below the water. Its geographical location at the convergence of three ocean currents makes the Galápagos one of the richest marine ecosystems in the world. Ongoing seismic and volcanic activity reflects the processes that formed the islands. These processes, together with the extreme isolation of the islands, has led to the development of unusual rare plants and animal life.

Undoubtedly some of the most spectacular pelagic diving on the planet, the Galapagos Islands are one of those rare places where you can dive through hundreds of hammerhead sharks to find a whale shark cruising along. Add silky sharks, sea turtles, giant morays and schooling fish in their thousands into the mix... and that's just the first dive at Darwin!

At Wolf Island you can expect to see huge Galapagos sharks and eagle rays up close, whilst dives at Cabo Marshall will put you face to face with giant manta rays or in the midst of a school of millions of black-striped salemas. Macro life is plentiful with Black Coral bushes sheltering seahorses, blennies, nudibranchs, hawk fish and frogfish. Marine iguanas are a unique sight, along with speedy Galapagos penguins and playful sea lions.

This is but a mere taste of why divers consistently proclaim Galapagos to have the healthiest marine life in the Pacific. Experienced divers often regard the Galapagos Islands as a huge highlight in their scuba diving career.

The Galapagos Master is the perfect platform for a dive adventure, be reassured that you will remember this liveaboard trip for a lifetime !
